

ABSTRACT

Treatments for solid substrates to enhance the application and durability of the treatments that are applied to such substrates wherein treating agents for such substrates, such as antimicrobially effective organofunctional silanes, are combined with dianion containing materials to obtain such treatments.

5